Subject: A Journey With Colour a History of South Australian Opal 1840-2005 by Len Cram

Len Cram has written another masterpiece "A Journey With Colour a History of South Australian Opal 1840-2005" it is a special collector's edition. There are only two families who have stories written about three of their family. We are very proud that Len decided to tell the story of three Willeeses, namely Nicole, Kent & Murray see below. This is such a marvellous book that even people who never read and are interested in opal find it hard to put it down. The book contains 1,400 pictures and weighs approximately 2 kilos or 4.4 lbs. It is choc'o'block full of amazing things to read, I love it. Of course I know many of the characters in it and I have lived 50 years of its history, 50 years being 30.3% of the known existence of opal and the opal business in South Australia. We thank our clients most sincerely for allowing us to live such interesting lives, meet such characters, be owners of the Big Winch in Coober Pedy, travel the world selling opals and meet our varied customers from all around the world.

I can highly recommend this book to you. The Queensland book that Len wrote sold 3 years ago for $3,000, it won't be long and I think the South Australian book will also be worth much much more than you'll be paying for it at only $179.95.

Regards

Murray

$198.95 "A Journey with Colour A History of South Australian Opal 1840-2005"
Recently Len Cram launched a new book "A Journey with Colour A History of South Australian Opal 1840-2005" a Special Collectors Edition by Len Cram $198.95US. My daughter Nicole was asked to host the launching, Kent and Murray Willis travelled to Coober Pedy to the launch also. All three Willises were featured in the book which is a great honour.

There is no doubt that Len Cram is the greatest opal historian in the history of this world. He shudders at that title but deep down he knows he is. The book has approximately one million words, 1,400 photographs and weighs over 4lbs. For $198.95US it is a bargain. If you would like us to send you a book and possibly some opals with it we would be more than happy to do so.
